Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-22, drawn to a method of making a modified target enzyme based upon the sequence of SEQ ID NO: 2 [cellulase], classified in class 435, subclass 440.
 - II. Claims 23-27 & 33-39, drawn to a modified target enzyme, wherein modifications are performed based upon the sequence of SEQ ID NO: 2, classified in class 435, subclass 209.
 - III. Claims 28-32, drawn to nucleic acid encoding a modified target enzyme, wherein modifications are performed based upon the sequence of SEQ ID NO: 2, host cell and method of making the modified target protein, classified in class 435, subclass 209.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. The DNA encoding the modified target enzyme of Group III and the modified target enzyme of Group II are chemically and biologically distinct molecules. The enzyme and DNA have fundamentally different molecular structure, each with its own set of functionality. Enzyme, for example is biologically active, whereas DNA encoding the enzyme, is not. Additionally, the DNA constitutes the genetic material and is composed of the genes, and has other functions besides encoding the enzyme. Since the cellulase and the DNA are biologically and chemically distinct, the manner of using the DNA may not necessarily involve the enzyme. At the minimum, the enzyme can be used to delineate molecular weight parameters in protein gel electrophoresis whereas the DNA can be used in hybridization protocols.

3. Invention I is related to invention II as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product, or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the modified target enzyme of Group I can be made by a process materially different from the recombinant method of Group II, such as by chemical modification of the protein sequence.

4. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (M.P.E.P. § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the modified target enzyme encoding nucleic acid molecules, as claimed in Group III, can be used in a materially different process other than the methods of use of the nucleic acid in a method to produce recombinant enzyme, such as to detect transcripts, gene copies, and in hybridization protocols.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was not made to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Rejoinder The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

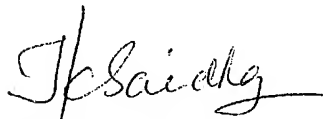

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
